

THE FUTURE IS OURS

FUCK THE ELDERS

Name That Character

Which member of the court do you think these songs represent?

Or would like to represent?

- You're So Vain -
- Run To The Hills -
- Killer Queen -
- Leaving On A Jet Plane -
- Time Is On My Side -
- Pretty Vacant -
- Dead Skin Mask -
- Master of Puppets -
- Hammer Smash Face -
- Killing In The Name Of -
- Beauty and the Beast -

There are no right answers, just your opinion...
Funniest selection gets a mystery prize...

I AM CASSIDY, I FUCKING ROCK.

Puppets. That's all you want us to be, isn't it? Toys for you to manipulate and twist to fit into your designs. Fools and morons who'll follow ever thing you say; that's what you actually think we are isn't it? You conceited old bastards. Your conceit, and retarded forward growth are what has allowed the cancer of the Sabbat to take root and spread throughout the world, spreading their doctrine of hate and domination across the globe. I don't want it, you don't want it, but the old bastards up in their ivory towers seem not to give a fuck about the corruption that is happening; its beneath their attention or something. NO ITS NOT YOU OLD PRICKS. There's hundreds of those shovel heads waiting to find you while you slumber and diabolirise you with a thousand bites. And we ain't gonna look out for you.

YOU SUCK, I RULE

Christmas is upon us once more, and I feel this is a good time for reflection. There is no point to life if you stumble on without learning from the past. So please, just sit for 5 minutes and think about what has happened in the last year; the comrades you may've lost, the battles fought by you or to protect us all, the enemies defeated, the challenges still left incomplete. There is much to do in this world; there is much to know. If you don't challenge yourself, you're wasting yourself, wasting what you could be. Watch mortals, learn from them. Their fragile lives can show us so much, we could be so much better if we listened to what they have to teach us – do not be conceited, for they are not lesser beings, they should be treated like the equals they are and given the respect they deserve.

CASSIDY