The Official Newsletter of Clan Toreador in Glasgow

Your Darling Editor Speaks

Darlings! Well I find myself once again alone but steadfast, holding back the waves of apathy and bad fashion at Court, with nothing but some Versace and a cocktail glass to keep me company. How does your Harpy cope with such trials I hear you ask? Honestly, it's amazing I don't chip a nail or something. Anyhoo, on with the show. This month, a quick review over events of note. In addition, my usual net of gossip and rumour has been churning, so I have managed to pin down the Soup Seer for a couple of moments to record the usual madness. Honestly, the depths I sink to for you people, talking to the poor and all. Like I always say, the poor are like cracks in the pavement, you never notice them underfoot until you trip over one. And on that final uplifting note, hugs and kisses to all! Enjoy!

Events of Note

Well, events in-house seem a tad dry, although the same could not be said for Glasgow as a whole. The Society of Leopold being here, in this very city, is something we all need to sit up and take stock of. Almost getting hold of Clan Brujah, I believe our lovely Sheriff came to the rescue, and not a moment too soon. Faith is a powerful weapon, not to be ignored. I should know, only last week I prayed that the Gucci dress I saw Lady McKenzie wearing at a Society bash would be in sale stock straight after, and lo, I was rewarded! So gentle readers, take heart! Have faith and all your dreams could also come true! Actually, this has nothing to do with the Society of Leopold, but it is Society, and more importantly a great deal more interesting than a bunch of stuffy old churchmen. Anyway, where was I? Oh yes, things of import.

Last month it was the 3rd anniversary of our current Prince's reign over the city, which is fabulous news. Long may he reign, ably advised by his current Primogen which just happens to include yours truly. Rest assured darlings, I have your best interests at heart!

Society Gossip

Ooh scandal! I forgot to RSVP that party invitation last week!

I was going to put some important or serious article in this bit, but then my young assistant handed me a sheaf of notes he has been collecting for me from various society contacts around the City. He's such a darling! They made such interesting reading, I just had to share them with you!

It is rumoured that a Tremere antitribu is floating around the city, but no-one has been able to substantiate this vague claim. Perhaps some Elders have created this story to keep the younglings busy?

It is alleged some nice young men were seen receiving an important large package off a boat in the Clyde. Not normally something to note, but they all carried automatic weapons and sported a matching tattoo on the back of their necks.

*Third in sin, but first in punishment;
Die by me and live more,
Kill me and suffer more.*

Soup Seer

You know, you would think that a seer could find a better medium than alphabet soup, I mean really. I always thought they used crystal balls or something. Anyway, I digress from the following gem:

“Blue Blood and Shadow will Combine, before the slaughter of the Kine.”

Horoscope

Jealous Gemini...

Your naughty twin always has more fun than you do. Indulge yourself this month, after all, who will ever know?

Joke of the Month

Q: What's the difference between a cocktail waiter and a caitiff?

A: You don't mind being seen with a cocktail waiter at a party.

Anon.....ooh who am I kidding darlings! It's me of course! A x

Everyone likes a bit of rough sometimes...
